Defiance Public Library to Host Workshop on Making Time to Write

DEFIANCE, Ohio – Finding time to write can be difficult when life is full of competing demands. Defiance Public Library will host “Making Time to Write When Life Is Busy,” a free workshop for adults who love to write but struggle to fit writing into their lives.

The workshop will take place Sept. 29 at 5:30 p.m. at Defiance Public Library, 320 Fort St., and will be led by Dr. Bailey Lang.

Conventional writing advice such as “write every day” does not work for every writer. Work, family responsibilities and other demands can make it difficult to find the time and energy to write, and some writers may even feel guilty for prioritizing their creativity.

During the workshop, participants will explore strategies for creating a writing practice that fits their individual lives and goals. The session will focus on mindset shifts that can help writers recenter creativity, along with simple ways to make writing feel more enjoyable and achievable.

Participants will leave with practical tools for reclaiming their creative practice and putting words on the page, even when life feels especially busy.

The program is free and open to all adults, but registration is required. To register, visit defiancelibrary.org/write or call 419-782-1456. The registration deadline is 5 p.m. Sept. 28.
